My Rose Coloured Windows

West Gippsland Arts Centre Exhibition: 3-19 December 2004

Journey exploring landscape

"Soft and hard edges, control, confinement and limitations are achieved using a variety of brushstrokes," she added.

"With my fingers I brought to life the flowing, swelling and luring temptations of deeper layers that ooze and run and cross all boundaries beneath the surface."

Through My Rose Coloured Windows is a body of work that has been painted to capture single moments of time from various perspectives including aerial, surface and deep beneath the water. "It reflects how I as an artist feel about the landscape and how I feel about myself within it."

Kerrie describes her exhibition as a "colorful and bold expression of the world" through her eyes.

"It reflects the push and pull that I feel, the cry for understanding, the need for balance, harmony and sunlight. I fill my world with unlimited color and feed my pure passion to express in paint."
